DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-16 rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-47 of U.S. Patent No. 6,425,493. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims are drawn to the same invention.

3. Claims 1-16 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of U.S. Patent No. 6,729,495. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims are drawn to the same invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
>
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
>
> (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-3, 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kuo US 5,131,554.

Kuo '554 teaches a plastic dust cover for sealing a beverage can countersink comprising a ring-shaped filler (unlabeled; read to comprise the annular peripheral portion which depends into the container countersink). Central portion (4) is read to be the substantially flat or continuous surface extending radially inwardly from the countersink.

6. Claims 1-4 and 6-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nieuwoudt US 5,996,832.

Nieuwoudt '832, in the embodiment of figure 17, teaches a synthetic cover (68.2) for sealing a beverage can top, including countersink filler material (82), and where the can top has a raised central portion (64). Central portion (78) is read to be the substantially flat or continuous surface extending radially inwardly from the countersink. The reference discloses in column 2, lines 9-11 that mechanical deformation or gluing (read to comprise an adhesive) are suitable means for securing the cover to the end of a beverage can.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuo US 5,131,554 in view of Tominaga et al. US 5,653,355.

Kuo '554 fails to teach reinforcing ribs on the cap outer surface.

Tominaga '355 teaches a reinforcing rib (14) adjacent the drink opening on the can end panel for providing rigidity to the can end.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the can end of Kuo '554, providing the reinforcing rib (14) taught by Tominaga '355, motivated by the benefit of strengthening the can end against deformation from internal pressure.

8. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nieuwoudt US 5,996,832 in view of Tominaga et al. US 5,653,355.

Nieuwoudt '832 fails to teach reinforcing ribs on the cap outer surface.

Tominaga '355 teaches a reinforcing rib (14) adjacent the drink opening on the can end panel for providing rigidity to the can end.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the can end of Nieuwoudt '832, providing the reinforcing rib (14) taught by Tominaga '355, motivated by the benefit of strengthening the can end against deformation from internal pressure.
